

IsoMed2000

The high-performance dynamometer, "Isomed 2000" permits flexible possibilities for application in strength diagnostics. Its various modules enable one to measure diverse single joint movements of the arms and legs. Measurements can be carried out both statically as well as dynamically (isokinetic mode). With the leg-press adapter, even multiple-joint leg-extension measurements can be performed.

