

Zebris FDM System

The Zebris FDM System is a pressure measuring plate, i.e. the ground reaction force (force in the z-direction) is measured. In contrast to the Footscan plate, this system has larger dimensions – measurement range is 208x56cm and it is consequently suitable for measuring a number of strides one after the other. The principal field of application is for gait analysis.

